LIVINGSTON COUNTY.

Farmers Club—Big Iron Furnace Popular Teacher Married.

The farmers of Livingston county met in Salem Saturday, August 17th, and organized "The Livingston County Farmers Club," consisting of 33 members.

The nineteenth annual session of the Ohio River Baptist Association, at Grand Rivers, was one of the most interesting sessions ever held by that body. The Rev. G. N. McGrew was re-elected Moderator and Eld J. S. Miller was re-elected Clerk.

Revs. T. L. Crandall and R. L. Tally closed their meeting at Livingston Chapel last Monday. The meeting was a great success, thirty-six were converted and twenty-one joined the church.

It is now a settled fact that Geo. W. Dixon, the furnace man, will build an iron furnace at Iuka and that work will begin on its erection Oct. 1st. Already more than two hundred tons of the very finest needle ore has been dug out and there seems no end to the vein, but on the contrary it grows in greater abundance as the year goes deeper in the ground.

The work of repairing the two great iron furnaces at Grand Rivers is being systematically continued, and it is estimated that they will be ready for operation by November 1. The Illinois Central Railroad has put in a switch at the furnaces. The shed has been extended some distance towards the town, the painting of the iron work is almost completed, the levee to the Tennessee river is now being crowned with a thick stratum of cinders, which will render it an ideal driveway, and the trestle work is being sufficiently strengthened and repaired for the support of the trains of ore which will ere long be rolled over it.

The Hillman property, besides supplying the ores for the furnaces, is to be utilized as a great farm and stock ranch, under the management of Mr. Barstow. The contract for the thirty miles of fencing necessary for its being fitted for the purpose is soon to be let to the lowest bidder.

Mr. E. C. Simmons, the St. Louis capitalist, who is heavily interested in the furnaces and ore land will build a $20,000 residence at Grand Rivers. He and his wife will arrive there the first part of September to select the site.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left for Buffalo and Niagara Falls, to spend several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Pyle will be at their new home in Columbia after October 1st. Many friends and relatives from other places attended the ceremony.

A Guest.

A Card.

Language sometimes seems feeble indeed when burdened with the weight of a grateful heart's attempt to express its sense of obligation to those who have ministered to us in affliction.

Such is the case with myself and sorely bereaved family, when we attempt to convey to our many dear friends and neighbors, who so tenderly and constantly helped our suffering daughter Emma during her last illness. All honor to the skillful and faithful physicians who with all their learning and experience endeavored to stop the devouring fever, and prolong her precious life. God's blessings be upon them, for they thought no of reward in this life; and how can we cease to love and remember the dear ones who watched and worked, the long nights through, in vain endeavor to save our precious child. Our fullest thanks are due to the city authorities and the public, who in pity for us and our suffering one, abandoned travel and traffic upon the street, in order that quiet might contribute to her comfort, and the much needed rest might be had. Surely our community knows of Him who loved us and gave himself for us. Surely a good God will visit blessings upon them, for he said, "In as much as ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto me," and when relentless death had done its work, and the beautiful spirit of Emma Bigham had passed over into the endless life, her loved companions and co-workers of the Sabbath School and Epworth League and choir she so much loved, brought bright, sweet flowers and laid them on her grave—tender, loving prophecies of life and love beyond the stars forever. Heaven reward them all and bring them all to the flower land above.

We gratefully acknowledge the kindness and christian liberality of Bros. R. W. Wilson and J. Bell Kevil who without one cent of cost to us presented us by deed a beautiful plot in the new cemetery, where rests the dust of our sleeping children, until they and we shall awake with His likeness.

J. W. Bigham and Family.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by R. F. Haynes and J. H. Orme. ROOSEVELT IN CHICAGO.

The Vice-President Partakes of the Hospitalities of Several Prominent Illinoisans.

HE ALSO REVIEWS THE NAVAL MILITIA.

Brief Synopsis of the Vice-President's Speech at the Dinner Given by Gov. Yates, in His Honor, at Camp Lincoln, Springfield, on Friday Evening.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Vice-President Roosevelt arrived in Chicago from Springfield at 7:30 a. m. Accompanying him were Gov. and Mrs. Yates, Adjt.-Gen. and Mrs. Heeche, Senator Cullom, Mr. and Mrs. McCullough, Col. J. H. Strong, of the governor's staff and Mrs. Strong, and Mrs. Harmon.

The vice-president drove immediately to the Chicago club, where he breakfasted with Senator Cullom and District Attorney Bethea. The forenoon was devoted to a drive with Col. Strong, followed by a luncheon at the Union league with Gov. Yates.

The programme for the afternoon contemplated a review of the naval militia on board the Dorothea, and dinner with Grace Stewart.

Sunday will be devoted by the vice-president to engagements of a strictly private nature and he will leave for Minneapolis Sunday evening.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

Brief Synopsis of the Vice-President's Speech, Friday Night.

At the dinner, Friday evening, at Camp Lincoln, Vice-President Roosevelt spoke at some length. He began by stating that every man who does his work well, be he capitalist or tradesman, mechanic, farmer or laboring man, is also doing his duty by his country as a whole. He dwelt upon the importance of the work of the national guard. He spoke in eulogistic terms of Illinois' great sons—Lincoln, Grant and the first Gov. Yates, and continued:

"Never be misled into feeling that the men who have built up the wealth of the commonwealth are its enemies and not its friends. The men who bring business prosperity, the men who lift us up, who give us the means to achieve civilization, they are the commonwealth's friends. They do good and never harm. They can do incalculably more good by using their talents in building up great business enterprises which benefit them, but which benefit also, than they could do with their talent in any other way. But we must remember that the greatest debt we can owe is owed to those who do not material, but moral service—to the teachers, the soldiers, the statesmen, the public servants, provided that they work not only with disinterestedness but with sanity and common sense. We need reformers—we have got to have them. We want them, though, built on the lines of Lincoln. We want men who will fix their eyes on stars, but will not forget that their feet must walk on the ground. We want men who will strive for a high ideal, but who will remember that you must achieve the highest ideal by practical methods. Woe to us as a nation if we ever permit our leading men to be base. Woe to us if we tolerate baseness, if we tolerate that which deviates from the path of rectitude, of decency and honesty. Woe also if we don't insist upon having common sense. Sanity and common sense go hand in hand with pure and lofty ideals. But that is not enough. I don't care how honest a man is, if he is timid, there is but little that can be done with him. I don't care how patriotic he is, if in a crisis he is afraid, for his patriotism will not do much good."

He closed by speaking briefly in a complimentary manner of the troops in camp.

SEEN ON A MICHIGAN MENU.

"St. Louis, 1903," a popular dish on the menu of the Oakland Hotel, St. Clair Springs, Mich.

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—A copy of the dinner bill of fare for the Oakland hotel, at St. Clair Springs, Mich., has been received at the World's fair offices. Conspicuous among the dishes for desert is "St. Louis, 1903." A letter from Miss Florence Hayward accompanies the bill of fare, and adds the information that the dish "St. Louis, 1903," proved to be popular on the menu card. Miss Hayward said:

"I am busy inventing a new mixed drink which, when perfected, will be called by the same name."

The British Revenues.

London, Aug. 31.—The British customs collections for the fiscal year 1900-01 were £26,270,959. This is £3,227,487 more than for 1899-1900 and £2,650,959 more than the budget estimate. The inland revenues collected by the customs were £7,227,957, an increase over those of 1899-1900 of £942,081.

Lynchers Convicted.

Wetumpka, Ala., Aug. 31.—The jury in the cases of John Strength and Martin Fuller, charged with having participated in the lynching of Robert White, a negro, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree, and sentenced the defendants to ten years in the penitentiary.

THE MISSOURI MAN HUNT.

The Hunters on a Fresh Trail of "Bossie" Francis in the Neighborhood of Strasburg.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 31.—The scene in the hunt for "Bossie" Francis, the murderer of Miss Mary Henderson, at Columbus, shifted during the night to Strasburg, two stations west of Hohen. There dogs and men made a fresh start and are covering all the ground around that town. There appears no doubt that Francis jumped off a Missouri Pacific train at Strasburg Friday night and made for the woods near by. As soon as the pursuers became convinced of this, the posse that had been searching about Hohen started for Strasburg, taking additional bloodhounds, and receding additions to the crowd at every mile. The trial is believed the strongest one obtained since the man hunt began on Wednesday, and the people are in a fever of excitement over the apparent nearness of the negro's capture.

Francis' objective point is believed to be Kansas City, and all incoming trains from the south are watched closely, and as well men have been sent out into the outskirts of Kansas City, Kas., and will keep a close lookout.

At noon it was believed that the posse was close on the trail of Francis. When caught he will probably be taken to Columbus, which is 15 miles overland from Strasburg, and burned at the stake at the Hyatt farmhouse.

A SENSATIONAL TURN.

The Murder of Miss Henderson Given Another Coloring.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 31.—A special to the Star from Strasburg says: "Many of the original members of the posse have given up in disgust and have discarded their guns, saying they regret that the search was ever begun. There are dozens of men in Johnson county who believe that Francis was paid to murder Miss Henderson by white persons who wanted to get her out of the way. So convinced are many members of the posse that Francis has escaped, by the aid of white persons, that they refuse to take further part in the efforts to catch the murderer. If he is caught he will not be burned at once, but will be tortured for the purpose of making him tell what he knows about reports that white persons desired Miss Henderson to be gotten out of the way."

BARN AND HORSES BURNED.

Fire Among the St. Louis Fair Grounds Stables Causing Considerable Loss.

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—The stables across fair avenue to the west of the fair grounds, were visited by a disastrous fire, Friday evening, which destroyed two large barns and a number of stalls, besides burning three horses to death and probably fatally burning a fourth. In addition to this there was a great deal of other property destroyed, including clothing and racing paraphernalia, while several horses ran away and could not be found. The owners of the fair grounds estimate their loss at $10,000, fully covered by insurance, while the loss to horse owners will approximate $2,500.

NEGRO BLOWN SKYWARD.

Remains of Carelessly Throwing a Lighted Match in the Bung-hole of an Empty Whisky Barrel.

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—Joseph Tyler, a negro, seated himself on an empty whisky barrel in front of a liquor store, in East St. Louis, Friday evening. He struck a match, lighted his pipe and threw the match away. The match fell into the bung-hole of the empty barrel Tyler was sitting on, and in the explosion that followed he was blown almost across the street. Windows were shattered in houses in the neighborhood, and Joe Adams, a pedestrian, was knocked down and sustained a fractured arm. Tyler may die as the result of his injuries. Passengers in a passing car were badly shaken up.

FOUR MORE BODIES FOUND.

Remains of Four More Victims of the City of Trenton Disaster Taken From the Delaware.

Philadelphia, Aug. 31.—The bodies of four more victims of the explosion on the steamboat City of Trenton were recovered from the Delaware river Saturday morning. Two were of women, and one was identified as the remains of Amanda Cross, 21 years of age, of Philadelphia, who had been included in the list of missing. One body was taken from the river at the scene of the explosion and another was picked up several miles below. The recovery of the four bodies increased the number of known dead to 15 and decreased the number of missing to 13.

Negro Trespasser Killed.

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 31.—A negro, supposed to be Edward Jones, was shot and almost instantly killed by Adolph St. Andre, a farmer, living four miles out of East St. Louis. The negro was in the act of stealing grapes when shot. A coroner's jury exonerated St. Andre.

Traffic Delayed by Washouts.

Denver, Col., Aug. 31.—Traffic on nearly all the railroads in and out of Denver was badly delayed owing to washouts caused by a heavy rain storm covering a large area east of Pike's Peak. Much damage was done at Cripple Creek.

Both Sides Still Claiming That They Have the Best of the Argument.

THE FACTS FAVOR THE CORPORATION.

At McKeesport and Wheeling, However, the Strikers Continue to Have Things Their Own Way—Disaffection Becoming Manifest at McKeesport.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 31.—The steel strike has now been in progress for seven weeks, and both sides to the controversy are still claiming that they have the best of the argument. The facts, however, seem to favor the corporation, inasmuch as in almost every instance they have succeeded in starting those mills which they said they would operate. Additional men have been secured during the past week at the various plants running in this city, and the managers say they will have at least one more plant—the Painter's—in full operation, double-turn, within the next week. The works at Wellsville and Clark's mill, in this city, are both in full operation and the strike at these plants is considered a thing of the past.

At McKeesport and Wheeling, the strikers continue to have matters their own way. All combine plants at these places are practically tied up, and no efforts have been made on the part of the combine to resume at any of them. More or less dissatisfaction exists among the strikers at McKeesport, however, and the steel managers expect a break at any time. It was reported, Friday night, that 40 men had returned to work in the seamless tube department of the National tube works, but this story was promptly denied. The scene of action has been switched to Duquesne, from where an early report came in that the men had gone on a strike at seven o'clock. This proved untrue, although the strike leaders claimed that a partial tie-up might occur some time during the day.

Rumor Aroused John Jarrett. Rumor has it that John Jarrett, secretary of the labor bureau of the American Sheet Steel Co., has gone to Europe to secure skilled labor to replace the strikers, but the report is discredited in labor circles. It is known that Mr. Jarrett has not been a well man for some time, and it is said that his mission to Europe is in search of health.

Miners' Demonstration Probably Off. The proposed miners' demonstration at Monessen, Pa., on Labor day, it is said, has fallen through. The leaders fear a clash between the miners and town authorities, and have about decided to call it off. The labor demonstration in Pittsburg promises to be the greatest ever seen here. Those having the affair in charge claim that 25,000 men will take part in the morning parade.

Grand Labor Day Rally.

Following the parade, the allied trades and labor unions of western Pennsylvania will hold a grand rally at Ross grove, a few miles north of this city. The tube works at Beaver Falls, employing 300 hands, which was shut down June 15 and shortly afterward sold at receiver's sale, will resume operation on next Monday under the management of the Pittsburgh Seamless Tube Co.

All the plants started in this city since the strike began are operating with increased forces.

SOUTHERN GLEANINGS.

Prohibition in the South.

Kentucky has long been the target for jokes about liquor drinking because of the immense production of whisky; but, according to the Cleveland Plain Dealer, these jokes are entirely unwarranted. "It is a fact," states the Plain Dealer, "that of 94 counties of Kentucky only 4 permit the sale of liquor except on physicians' prescriptions. The big state of Texas, which has a 'wide open' reputation in the north, has 120 prohibition counties; Georgia leads all of her sister states of the south with 132; Mississippi has 81, Tennessee 70, North Carolina 60, Virginia 50, Alabama 50, Arkansas 50, West Virginia 40 and Florida 30."

Attack on Negroes Was Fatal.

James Hatfield was killed and Viola Hatfield, his brother, seriously wounded in Elk Valley, Tenn. The two Hatfields were leaders of a band of mountaineers, who attempted to drive negro laborers, who were building a new railroad, from the country. The mountaineers were fired upon, the Hatfields being shot. This was the third attempt to drive the negroes away, and a number have fled from the camps. The Hatfields are related to the famous Hatfield feudists of West Virginia and Kentucky.

Sentenced for Lynching.

The jury in the cases of John Strungh and Martin Fuller, at Wetumpka, Ala., charged with having participated in the lynching of Robert White, a negro, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree, and sentenced the defendants to ten years in the penitentiary. This makes three convictions in these cases, George Howard having been sentenced to life imprisonment a few days before, after pleading guilty.

A Mosquito Story.

An item from Raleigh, N. C., tells the story of an unusual mosquito plague in that section of the country, one incident being that an unknown minister, travelling with a small child through Hyde county, had to tie up the child in a large paper sack to keep the mosquitoes from devouring it alive, and was nearly overcome himself when he reached Fairfield, where he found shelter from the ravenous insects.

QUESTIONS OF THE HOUR.

Rev. Robert S. MacArthur Discusses the Subject of Lynching in New York.

THOUGHTFUL MEN DEEPLY DEPLORE IT.

The Whole Tendency of the Practice Is Toward Brutality and Barbarism—The Present Prosperity of the Nation and the Strike Question Touched Upon.

New York, Sept. 2.—In his sermon in the Calvary Baptist church, Sunday night, Rev. Robert S. MacArthur, who had just returned from his vacation, spoke of the sentiment of the people he had met on his journey regarding lynching.

"Thoughtful men, north and south," said he, "bitterly deplore the occasional rule of mob law. This is not a sectional question. Ohio and Kansas have been disgraced as much as any southern state."

Trends to Brutality and Barbarism.

"The whole tendency of lynching is toward brutality and barbarism. While it destroys the physical life of the victim, it utterly degrades and brutalizes the perpetrators."

"It is a reproach to American civilization, and even to humanity itself. There is no apology to be made for the crime or the criminals, but we must insist that all criminals be punished according to the law of civilized people. The time has come for pulpits and press, with united voice, to denounce this relic of barbarism."

National Prosperity and the Strike.

"The nation was never so prosperous in its history as today."

"The United States is fast becoming the workshop of the world. The west and the south are showing wonderfully in the new life that has come to the nation. We have had a glimpse of the orient as we look through the Golden Gate."

San Francisco, the speaker said, would yet be a greater city than New York. The present strike, Mr. MacArthur said, had been forced on unreasonable grounds. Every man had the right to give up work, if in so doing he did not violate a contract, but he had no right to say to another man that he could not work in his place.

OLD INDIAN CURIOSITIES.

A Collection of Interesting Indian and Other Relics to Be Sent to the St. Louis World's Fair.

Red Bud, Ill., Sept. 2.—The fine collection of Indian relics, old coins, manuscripts and relics from the old French settlements at Kaskaskia and Fort Chartres, now being exhibited at the Knights of Pythias hall, will be displayed at the World's fair in St. Louis in 1903. In the collection are some of the finest specimens of Indian pottery, axes, stone spades, flint needles and stone implements used by the Indians in dressing hides; curious petrifications, Indian pipes (one of them used by Chief DeQuoin), also centipedes, tarantulas, scorpions, a baby alligator, some fine specimens of ore and a thousand other things.

Among the manuscripts is an old daybook from Kaskaskia, containing the names of several of the governors. Gov. Reynolds is charged with one-fourth yard of moleskin cloth, at $5.50; half a dozen iron spoons, at $1.25; and a box of fifty fine cigars, at $2.50. On the same page the governor is charged with $3 given an Indian for liquor.

Gov. Bond is charged with a bottle of wine, at $1.50; one set of knives and forks, at $5; one pair cotton hose, at 75 cents; and four yards of calico, at $3. Robert Brown was credited with $50 for hauling 1,000 pounds of merchandise from Cincinnati.

Kaskaskia was at one time a town of 15,000 inhabitants, and was the metropolis of the west, and sold goods to the hunters and trappers of St. Louis, but now only a few old buildings overhanging the brink of the river are all that remains of the once historic place.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON'S HEALTH.

Reports of His Dangerous Condition Seem to Have Been Greatly Exaggerated.

Lake Sunapee, N. H., Sept. 2.—The report that Rear-Admiral Sampson's health was such as to cause alarm was greatly exaggerated. The admiral and his wife came here, August 22, and have been living at a summer hotel. When the admiral came here he was not in the best of health, but he has been gaining strength and is very much improved. The report that the admiral was seriously ill originated from his having suffered a slight relapse, following a drive around the country, which overtaxed him. It was but temporary, however, for he was out again the next day. The admiral expects to remain here about two weeks longer.

THE MODERN JUGGERNAUT.

The Killing of a Young Child by a St. Louis Trolley Car Nearly Results in a Lynching.

St. Louis, Sept. 2.—The killing of Willie Kopejtko by a street car at Lafayette avenue and Fourteenth street, early Sunday evening, precipitated a riot among the citizens of the neighborhood and called for the adoption of emergency measures by a squad of policemen to save the car crew from injury. In rounding the curve car No. 504, of the Tower Grove division, southbound, caught the little fellow beneath its wheels and literally ground him to pieces. A crowd of several hundred formed, and, maddened by the sight of the little mangled corpse, demanded the life of the motorman in return. Fortunately, Officer Michael J. Usher, of the Third district, was but two blocks away and, attracted by the shouts of the crowd, ran hastily to the spot. After turning in a riot call from the police box on the corner where the accident occurred, he gave his attention to the protection of the motorman and, in all probability, his coolness saved the man's life.

DROWNED IN OIL AND WATER.

A Well-Known Oil Well Pumper Found Dead in the Oil Fields Near Marion, Ind.

Marion, Ind., Sept. 2.—Henry Pingree, aged 28 years, an oil-well pumper, was found dead, Sunday, lying with his head submerged in oil and water by the side of a large tank, in the oil fields south of the city. At first it was thought that his death was due to foul play. It is now believed, however, that he died from strangulation. The theory advanced is that he fell from the tank to the ground and was knocked insensible. His dead body lay face downward in the channel of oil around the tank, and he was probably drowned. The coroner will investigate.

THE YACHT RACE PATROL.

Revenue Service Boats Will Keep the Course Clear in the Coming Yacht Races.

CAPT. THOS. D. WALKER WILL COMMAND

There Will Be Twelve or Thirteen Vessels in the Fleet, With Sir Thomas Lipton's Erin, by Courtesy Holding the Right of the Blue.

New York, Sept. 2.—Capt. Thomas D. Walker, who is to command the fleet patrolling the international yacht race course, during the races between the Shamrock and the American cup defender, tells of his plans in this week's Leslies.

"There will be no torpedo boats this year," he says.

"The revenue boats will do the work of the navy guard boats in 1899, and from the mast of each will fly the revenue service flag, with its white field, blue stars and red and white stripes, instead of the navy guard pennant."

"There will be twelve or thirteen vessels in the patrol fleet—five or six revenue cutters and five or six steam yachts."

Courtesy to the Erin.

"I shall offer the right of line in the division composed of steam yachts to Sir Thomas Lipton's Erin, a courtesy extended two years ago, and one which is his due."

"There is a great deal of helpful authority that goes with the revenue service pennant that harbor captains especially respect. In order that a steam yacht may fly it, it will be necessary for me to designate an officer of the revenue marine to go aboard and take charge of the vessel's patrol work during the races. We will not interfere with the handling of the Erin, which will be left to her own officers."

The Gresham the Flagship.

"In addition the Gresham, the revenue cutter from New York, will carry the senior officer's pennant to indicate that her signals are to be obeyed. These are arranged especially for the occasion, but the one most frequently used is the speed signal, the black one, which indicates by its position on the mast whether the vessel is going full speed, half speed, ahead or astern. The main purpose of the signals will be to keep the excursion fleet half a mile to leeward, and astern of the racing yachts."

"There will be two divisions of the patrol fleet and two great fleets of steamboats."

"Captains who do not heed signals will be rigorously dealt with. If a boat enforces and does not heed a warning gun, it will be ordered home in charge of a revenue officer."

LABOR DAY OBSERVANCES.

An Out-and-Out Union Labor Demonstration in Chicago—The Label on Everything.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Organized workmen in Chicago and vicinity celebrated Labor day with numerous picnics and a huge parade. The demonstrations were blessed with clear skies and pleasant temperatures.

The parade was about three miles in length and it is estimated that 25,000 trades unionists and musicians were in line. Buildings were not decorated, but banks, the board of trade, the stock exchange and business houses generally were closed to allow full observance of the day.

The South Chicago steel workers who refused to obey Shaffer's strike order were not invited to participate in the demonstrations. They enjoyed themselves at a picnic arranged by their employers.

A feature of the parade, although not observable to spectators who lined the sidewalks, was the union label attached to every garment, cap and shoe worn by the marchers. A critical committee had seen to it that the parade should represent dyed-in-the-wool unionism, and even the horses were not allowed to march until it was shown that their shoes had been put on by union smiths.

AT ST. LOUIS.

The Day Was Celebrated by Two River Parades.

St. Louis, Sept. 2.—Labor day was celebrated under bright skies and a bracing atmosphere. The rivalry had the effect of bringing out large delegations of the various industries represented, and kept the downtown streets crowded for several hours with music and marching men. Those composing the first-named parade spent the afternoon picnicking at the St. Louis fair grounds, while the latter repaired to Concordia park. Most of the business concerns closed up to permit their employees to participate in the day's festivities.

In the afternoon there were a number of sporting events, picnics and kindred events. The labor unions gathered at Krug park, where there was a programme of speeches and music.

REPORTS WERE EXAGGERATED

Not Nearly So Much Suffering in Zapata County, Tex., as Was at First Reported.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 2.—Advices to the News show that the reports of the effects of the drought in Zapata county have been much exaggerated. Representative Seabury, who represents Zapata county in the legislature, has letters from friends in various parts of the county advising him that the reports that anyone has starved to death there are unfounded. There has been no suffering, for while some have not made sufficient crops for their own subsistence, the better classes are willing and able to sustain them. This is being done, rendering outside aid unnecessary. Representative Seabury says.

Losses chargeable to persons not connected with the postal service were 455. Cases still under investigation, 36,613.

The office of the first assistant postmaster general refers to the division of post office inspectors 40,000 cases for investigation. The bond division of the bureau of the fourth assistant postmaster general refers cases regarding the responsibility of sureties on postmasters' bonds to the number of 30,000 annually. Complaints of charges against postmasters and employees of post offices are about two thousand each year.

During the last fiscal year there were only three charges filed against railway mail clerks, which is remarkable in view of the fact that there are in the neighborhood of nine thousand of these clerks. The number of miscellaneous cases referred to inspectors annually is about ninety thousand. The number of cases of that kind now awaiting final disposition by the inspectors' force is 9,000. The inspectors last year made 1,600 arrests, subject to the jurisdiction of the United States courts. There are on an average 700 cases pending in the United States courts for offenses committed against the United States mails.

An old fiddler's convention will be held in Princeton today. Crittenden could send a delegation of old veterans, like Uncle John Fowler, J. Mat Dunn, Sam and Bob Henth, Andy Hill, R. W. FORGERY.

A Shrewd Swindler Visits Our City and Finds a Victim.

One day last week a man giving his name as Young, and claiming to be a salesman for a wholesale grocery house of Cincinnati, came to this city and registered at the Cottage Hotel. The day following his arrival he prepared to leave town. He asked Mrs. Cameron, proprietor of the hotel, if she would cash a check for him, as he was short of money, presenting a check for $50 on one of the Cincinnati banks, signed by a business firm of that city. The check was certified by the Cashier of the Cincinnati bank and Mrs. Cameron examined the check and decided it was good. She endorsed it, the man presented it to the Marion bank and received the money, and left town at once. The check was sent to Cincinnati by Cashier Yandell. Later he received a telegram stating that the check was a fraud and the signature had been forged. The house Young claimed that he was representing stated that they knew nothing of the man. Mrs. Cameron loses the fifty dollars. Young is doubtless an expert swindler. Efforts are being made to locate him.

Expecting the Road.

Mr. Joseph Mason, one of the leading citizens of Cave-in-Rock, was in town Tuesday. He, like all other citizens of his place, is very much interested in the proposed railroad, and is very hopeful of the building of the road in the near future. He said:

They are working night and day and Sunday too, drilling in the bed of the Ohio river opposite our place, and they expected to find solid rock by the first of this week. From what I can gather, the engineer is well pleased with the situation so far. Our people are all very much interested. Sunday a delegation of ten business men of Equality visited our town to get information; they hope to get the road and will leave nothing undone to secure it, if it is built in that direction.

When asked for his opinion about the northern terminus of the line he said:

"It is 47 miles from Marion to Eldorado, and a straight edge placed on Marion at that place, touches Cave-in-Rock and the Saline Mines. This is all I know. The railroad people talk but little."

Getting Ready.

The ponderous machinery of the electric light plant has all arrived and most of it is in position and ready for raising steam. The dynamos arrived this week and the work of placing them is in progress. As soon as the poles arrive the wiring will be done. The Heilmann Machine Works, of Evansville, is putting in the machinery, and to the people of this section that means this work will be done right. The Heilmann works is one of the largest concerns in the South, and their annual sales of machinery in this section is very large. They handle engines, boilers, saw-mills, sorghum mills, and almost every other machine used in this section. The firm is one of the oldest and most reliable in the South, and if any of our readers need anything in this line, it affords us pleasure to recommend this firm.

Drew a Prize.

Messrs. John and Cary Woods reached home Saturday, ending a three months trip through the west. John was in the big land drawing and was one of the 13,000 out of 170,000 that drew a prize in the big distribution; he gets a splendid quarter section of land thirty-five miles from Lawton, on Otter creek. He will remain here until about the first of the year, when he will leave to settle permanently on his farm. He is one of the country's best young men, and while we regret to lose him, we are glad that he was of the lucky number.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somehow the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

PEA THRESHING.

Illinois Central Railroad

We have a New Bidwell Steam Pea Thresher that will take vine and pod into the machine and will separate the peas nicely cleaned and uncracked from the hay, as in threshing wheat; leaving the hay in better condition for feed than before threshing.

The time to cut peas for threshing is when two-thirds of the peas on vine are matured, after mowing the peas they should cure about one-half or two-thirds, then placed in small tall cocks for one or two days, then placed in shed, barn or rick, each rick should be well covered with hay or straw.

The yield of peas per acre is 10 to 25 bushels. The price of peas next season from present prospect will be equal to last season's prices.

We will send our machine into any neighborhood where we are assured 50 acres of a fair crop of peas. Our outfit consists of a traction engine, thresher, 4 horses and 4 men. All those wanting threshing done should notify us at once by postal card stating number of acres to be threshed to enable us to map out route and to let you know when to expect machine. Price for threshing 25 cents per bushel and will set to thresh 25 bushels of peas.

Field for Forestry in Southeastern States

The Practical Woodsman Is Needed in the Mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina

OUT southern Appalachians offer an excellent field for practical forestry. The need of systematic and conservative forest management is beginning to be keenly felt, both for the timber tract and the wood lot. The present desultory form of lumbering, which dates from the settlement of the region, has resulted in a serious reduction of the existing supply of timber. The unnecessary damage which has accompanied this lumbering, together with the repeated fires and excessive grazing to which the forest has been largely subjected, has greatly retarded the production of a second crop. Although there is still enough wood to fill the wants of the settlers, the cost of obtaining it is constantly increasing with the growing distance between the supply and the market. Around the towns and villages the belt of woodlands from which all merchantable timber has been culled widens every year, while fire and grazing often prevent young trees from springing up on the cut-over area.

The mountain region of western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee comprises an area of 15,000 square miles. It includes the Blue Ridge on the east and the Smoky mountains on the west, with the high and broken more important hardwoods are the yellow poplar, the oaks, hickories, chestnut, birch, ash, cherry, basswood, black walnut and maple. The merchantable softwoods, of which there are comparatively few, are chiefly shortleaf pine, white pine and hemlock.

There are two distinct types of lumbering in the southern Appalachians, similar in the extent of the harm done to the forest, but differing widely in the manner in which they are carried out.

The one is the slipshod, desultory form which has been practiced by the farmers of this region since its settlement in order to clear out the generally scanty profits from their farms. Although their output is small individually, their combined efforts, extending over many years, have resulted in the cutting of the best timber over a large portion of the more accessible forests. The scattered distribution of the merchantable trees, however, has rendered the lumbering comparatively light except where firewood has been cut as well as saw logs.

The other dates from the time when, some 15 years ago, with the falling supply of timber in Maine, Michigan and the north woods generalplaceau which lies between them. Many spurs and ridges run off at right angles from these two ranges upon the plateau, and make of it the loftiest and most rugged section east of the Rocky mountains. The more important of these cross chains are the Black mountains, a spur of the Blue Ridge, which contain Mitchell Peak, 6,711 feet high; the Balsam mountains, with a mean elevation of over 5,000 feet; and the Cowee mountains, one of the longest of the cross ranges. Beginning on the east with the spurs of the Blue Ridge, which lose themselves in the Piedmont district, the elevation increases and the character of the mountain region grows more rugged westward toward the Smokies, in which the Appalachian system culminates.

With the exception of the natural meadows which occupy the summits of some of the higher peaks, the mountains are covered with forest growth. The valleys are almost entirely under cultivation. Upland farming is carried on upon the foothills, and occasionally, for lack of better ground, upon mountain slopes so steep that their thorough cultivation is impossible.

It has often been said that it is in this region that the forest trees of the north mingle with those of the south, and the statement gives but an incomplete idea of the great variety of trees which is here the result of wide local differences in soil and climate. Western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee contain over 100 kinds of native trees. Of these, some, such as the black spruce and balsam, which find in the Smokies at an elevation of 4,000 feet and over conditions similar to those of their northern habitat, are either too rare or too difficult of access to be of commercial importance. Others, such as the black gum, sourwood, dogwood, buckeye and aspen, are valueless for timber, and are used for firewood only when no better kinds are to be had. Others again, among which are striped maple, the haw, and the silverbell tree, have as yet no merchantable value.

Among the commercial trees the ly, began the exodus of many northern lumbermen to the hardwood forests of the Virginias, Georgia and Tennessee, and to the pines and cypress swamps in the far south. With their arrival began lumbering on a large scale in the southern Appalachians, together with the investment of commensurate capital in logging outfits, the thorough repair and extension of logging roads, and the application of those skillful and businesslike methods which constitute clean lumbering. The active and systematic manner in which these men conducted a lumber job and the margin of profit which they wrung from it were a revelation to the natives, but have not yet resulted in any appreciable improvement in their methods.

The degree of care which is justified in the lumbering of any forest depends primarily upon the value of the timber which it produces. The higher the margin of profit on lumbering the larger the capital which is represented by the immature trees and the more important the financial considerations involved in their protection. Stumpage values are not sufficiently good in the southern Appalachians to warrant the application of an elaborate system of forest management, but they are high enough to make a sound business measure of practical forestry. The production of repeated crops of merchantable timber is here advisable, not only on account of the price this timber commands at present, but because it is rapidly increasing in value for the lack of satisfactory substitutes, notably in the case of the black walnut, cherry, hickory, white oak and yellow poplar.

From the point of view of the state, further considerations are involved in the preservation of the forests of this region. They constitute the drainage basins of several important rivers, there is no other great forest region except the Adirondacks of northern New York which is within easy reach of so large a number of people, and its healthfulness is sufficient to have transformed it in the last 20 years from what was practically a wilderness to a deservedly popular health resort.

A SAGACIOUS BARBER.

How He Keeps His Customers in Willingness to Await Their Turn.

A barber in Brooklyn has solved the problem of keeping customers who are in a hurry from running away when they see all the chairs occupied. He has fitted up a gorgeous new shop, and back of it has arranged a gorgeous waiting-room, decorated in very good taste. It has heavy mahogany tables and luxurious easy chairs, and scattered around are not only all the chief illustrated periodicals of the day, but also well-bound popular novels, Macaulay's history, some of the poets, and two or three foreign comic papers and illustrated art journals. A customer on taking his seat, is asked politely if

WEIGHING GOLD COIN.

New Machine That Does the Work of Six Men Used in Chicago Banks.

A machine which does the work of six bank clerks in weighing gold coins has been introduced in several Chicago banks, and its operation caused consternation among the bank employees. George Sites, of the First national bank, is one of the two inventors of the machine. Under his direction 3,000 gold coins at the Commercial national bank the other day were weighed, sorted and counted, says a Chicago special to the New York Times.

The fact that gold coins are accepted at weight value and not at face value is responsible for the invention of the machine. For some time banks have

QUEEN SOPHIA OF SWEDEN AND NORWAY.

Among the crowned ladies of Europe none is more simple in her ways of living and thinking than the charming queen of Sweden. Before her marriage to King Oscar, in 1857, she was a princess of the house of Nassau, and noted for her beauty, traces of which are still discernible in her regular features. Queen Sophia is the mother of four sons, the eldest of whom is the Crown Prince Gustavus, born in 1885. One of her other sons, Prince Oscar, married a commoner, Miss Edla Munk, and relinquished his rights to the throne. His action, it is said, was sanctioned by his queen mother.

he would like to see a comic paper, a daily, "or, perhaps," says the next hair-trimmer, "you would prefer a history or a book of poems." The shop is a great success.

"You see," said the proprietor, "I used to make my men nervous to know that their particular patrons were sitting on the anxious seat waiting for their turn. Not only did the man in the chair get less attention, but I often lost customers who were too impatient to wait. Now, a man comes in a hurry, sees the chairs are full, and goes into the parlor, takes up a book, finds a nice easy chair and a cool corner, and forgets all about his hurry. I have ordered some games of chess and draughts, which will help still more to lighten the tedium of waiting for the cry of 'Next!'" —N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Doesn't Mind Snake Bites. Antonio Adabio, foreman of a gang of Italian track hands on the New York Central railroad, has not the been receiving gold by weight, and the work of the teller has become arduous. Every grain that has been worn from a gold piece in circulation means a loss of four per cent, in value, and this amount has to be deducted.

Mr. Sites conceived the idea that the work of weighing the coin might be done by machinery. With the assistance of his brother-in-law, C. M. Reeves, he worked out the delicate mechanism. The coins are fed to the machine much as wheat to a mill. The standard weight coins are returned to one compartment and the underweight coins to another. The machine makes no mistakes.

WOMAN CATCHES GIANT FISH.

Mrs. A. W. Barrett, a California woman, has the record of having caught the largest fish ever taken, without assistance, with a hook and line. The fish was a black sea bass. It required three hours and five minutes of work after the fish took the hook to land it, and it towed Mrs. Barrett's boat far out to sea and back again before it succumbed. The fish weighed 46 pounds, was seven feet long and five feet eight inches in diameter. It is being mounted and will be presented to the Los Angeles chamber of commerce by the president of the California Tuna club.

One morning lately, while at work at Jersey Shore Adabio's men came upon a den of snakes, and all retreated with the exception of the charmed foreman, who managed to kill 11 of the reptiles. Blood flowed from the slight wounds on Adabio's legs, but he refused to accept medical aid and was working as usual next day.

Carewiltch After a Wife.

According to society gossip in London the Connaught household is the Mecca of marriageable princesses. In addition to the report that the crown prince of Germany is there to court one of the daughters of the duke and duchess of Connaught, it is said that the betrothal of Princess Margaret of Connaught to the carewiltch (Grand Duke Michael, brother of the czar) will shortly be announced.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY.

NEW SALEM.

The health of our people is generally good.

The hay derived from the pea crop is fine; corn cutting will commence this week, and there will be more corn cut this year than since 1881. The late corn is doing well, but our farmers are going to have a hard time getting through the winter, as the corn crop is going to be short, many fields that look as though they would make a one third crop, I find upon examination contain very little corn.

Uncle Samuel Woodson is the first man in this section to cut tobacco. By the way, Uncle Sam has the finest crop of tobacco raised in this section and he knows how to handle it.

There will be a full wheat crop sown this fall, as most farmers have ground already broken.

The Hurricane camp meeting was well represented from this section.

The present crop of tobacco is the finest that has been raised in this section in twenty years. We are in hopes that our farmers may get it safely housed for the proceeds will be needed before another crop is raised.

The peach crop in this section is the finest in twenty years, apples scarce and falling badly.

The hay crop, owing to so many peas being cut for hay, will be more abundant than in many years.

Allen Webb has bought one half of the Watson farm, and will move to it this fall.

Will Lowery has sold his farm near Tyler's Chapel to John Padon.

The people of Grimes school district have just completed a handsome house on the site of the old one.

Turner Hodge, of Emmaus, was the guest of his kinsman, Felix Tyler, Sunday.

Miss Finley is progressing finely with her school at Salem.

The hog crop is the shortest in quite a while with us.

Pat Sline, the bridge man, was up to see Esq. Harpending, looking to the erection of a bridge at or near New Salem church; a new bridge will have to be built in place of the old one, which has become unsafe, and we are in hopes our fiscal court will give us an iron bridge. The great amount of heavy freight passing over that road daily demands a substantial bridge and our part of the county is willing to help pay for it.

Thos. Hargraves and family left Saturday for a visit to Mr. Hargraves relatives in Ill.

James C. Moran and Miss Nar Conyers went to Marion last week and were married, Rev. E. M. Eaton officiating. The young people have gone to house-keeping. May their future be a happy one.

Joe Pace, our supervisor, has his road in fine order.

Jim Simpkins, who had the contract to recover Emmaus bridge, has completed the job and put on a number one roof. Why not tell the truth: it is best in the long run.

Stood Death Off.

This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs, and purifies the blood; it aids digestion, regulates the liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints, and gives perfect health.
